Vienna Publisher Receives Unexpected Honor at Program

ROYCE BRIDGES, editor of the Vienna Times, received an unexpected honor this week at a Teen Town talent show at Vienna.

Mr. Bridges went to the show expecting to see another Vienna resident surprised at a "This Is Your Life" presentation. Instead, he was taken to the front by the master of ceremonies and told that it was he who would be honored in the fashion of the well-known television program.

Taking part in the program were Charlie Feirich and Sam Smith of Metropolis, and Curt Small of Harrisburg, all newspaper friends; Paul Powell of Vienna; Mr. Bridges' wife, brother and sister; and four or five others from Vienna.

In commemoration of the evening Editor Bridges was presented a desk plaque engraved with the words "In Recognition of Your Sacrificial Service to the People of Johnson County and the High Esteem and Admiration of Us, Your Loyal Friends." Mayor Paul Gage presented Mr. Bridges with the key to the city of Vienna.

MRS. MADGE LEWELLYN of Carrier Mills Route 2 writes about the possibility of getting some good picture postcards of the area for people to send back home to friends and I am happy to report that the Shawnee Hills Recreation Association is coming along fine with this project. They've had a commercial scenic postcard publisher in the area already and the man, from Minnesota, is enthusiastic.

Mrs. Lewellyn writes that each summer visitors from out-of-state in her home rush to buy picture postcards to send home and that the selection is not so good.

"Seems to me the Shawnee Hills Recreation Association is overlooking a good means of advertising our scenic country by not furnishing some of the picturesque views around here to be made into postcards which would tell exactly what we have," she writes.

That's exactly what is going to happen. This commercial postcard man, who had been doing some work in Mississippi, when first approached mentioned a guarantee for the work but when he visited the area and saw the possibilities he was so enthused he said a guarantee would not be necessary. He plans to return in April when things are prettier and start shooting pictures of the scenery.

Probers Question if President Should Name Chairman of FCC

Col. Gordon Moore To Testify at Hearing Monday

WASHINGTON (UP)—House investigators today posed a question whether the President should be stripped of power to name the chairman of the Federal Communications Commission (FCC).

Chairman Oren Harris (D-Ark.) said his 11-member legislative oversight subcommittee looking into "misconduct" on the FCC is considering backing a move to either have the chairmanship rotate or have the head of the FCC elected by its members. He said a change in the law might help make the agency more independent.

Freshman Boy Kills Mother With Hatchet

MOUNDSVILLE, W. Va., (UP)—Authorities will file a murder charge today against high school freshman who confessed to slaying his mother with a hatchet and hiding her body under his bed for six days.

Dean Smith, 15, told police he struck his mother, Mrs. Grace Wims, on the head several times last Saturday when they were alone in their trailer home near here.

"I don't know why I did it. Something just came over me," he told police.

Mrs. Wims' body was discovered Friday afternoon by a woman who was caring for Dean's 10-year-old sister, Ethel Mae.

Dean was called from his classes at Moundsville High School and questioned by police. They said he readily signed a confession.

Mrs. Wims came to Moundsville from the Detroit area four months ago. Her husband is employed at the Kammer power plant near here.

Mrs. Wims' body was stuffed under the cot-like bed in the trailer and the family continued to live there. No one knew of the incident except the boy who slept directly over his mother's body.

Father of Kidnaped 6-Week-Old Boy Offers 'Anything I Own' for His Return

NAHA, Okinawa (UP)—Terrence D. Hitt, Plymouth, Mich., father of a kidnaped 6-week-old boy, broadcast an appeal today offering "anything I own" for the return of the baby.

Hundreds of Okinawan and U. S. military policemen searched the area around the Kadena Air Base again for clues to the kidnaping but there was not even a ransom note.

The baby, Brady D. Hitt, was taken from his bedroom crib Wednesday night at Kadena Air Base. The father raised from $500 to $1,000 his own reward for the safe return of his son and his squad-brother-in-law of Mrs. Mamie Eisenhower, will testify Monday as the subcommittee — in recess today — nears the end of its long hearings on the controversial award of television Channel 10 at Miami, Fla.

The subcommittee has heard testimony that Moore "engineered" the award to a subsidiary of National Airlines, a statement which Moore flatly denied.

At the same time the FCC, which only Thursday sought to reconsider its Channel 10 award, filed a brief stoutly defending its original decision.

The brief filed with the U. S. Court of Appeals maintained the decision to give the channel to the airline subsidiary was based on "substantial" and "uncontroverted" evidence. It made no mention of the subcommittee investigation into charges that ex-Commissioner Richard A. Mack and other FCC members were subjected to improper influence in connection with the award.

Coal Production Drops in February

SPRINGFIELD (UP)—Illinois coal production dropped to 3,860,761 tons in February, more than half a million tons below the January output, the state Mines and Minerals Department said today.

February production also was about 218,000 tons below February, 1957.

The February production was reported by 132 mines in 32 counties which employed a total of 10,640 men.

Williamson County was the top producer with 511,679 tons.

Love's Labor Lost

EASTBOURNE, England (UP)—A wife who apparently couldn't find the way to her husband's heart through his stomach was put on probation Friday for stealing to keep his affections. The woman, whose name was withheld, admitted stealing about 4,500 pounds ($12,600) from her employers "because I thought I was losing my husband's affection and tried to buy it back by giving him presents."

Residents Flee As Dam Breaks

BENNETTSVILLE, S. C. (UP)—One section of a large earth dam system gave way here early today, dumping half the water in a 300-acre Negro residential section.

Rescue teams were evacuating the area, most of which was under about five feet of water. It was not learned immediately whether there were any drownings.

The dam, part of a dual lake system built about 18 months ago by the state wildlife commission, broke alongside a concrete spillway. There was immediate concern that there might be a break in the remaining section of the dam or a mile-long "divider" dam that divides the lake into two sections.

Bennettsville police said they discovered the break moments after it occurred and sounded the city's fire alarm to warn citizens living below the dam.

Mrs. Nellie Williams, who fled her home along with her husband and sister-in-law, said "the water was knee-deep when we left and was rising all the time."

Mrs. Williams estimated that about 600 to 700 persons live in the affected area. "A whole lot of those people have children, too," she said, "and we don't know whether they all got out of there or not."

State Payroll Shows Increase

SPRINGFIELD (UP)—The state auditor's office said today the state payroll increased by 997 persons and $190,369 from December to January.

The January payroll included 53,898 persons who were paid a total of $17,621,917.

The January figures also were 2,490 persons and $2,271,012 greater than those for January, 1957.

Falling Revenue, Anti-Recession Spending Is Pushing Gov't Into Red

Pass Measure To Ease Tax On Insurance Firms

Defeat Attempts For Personal, Excise Reductions

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Senate overwhelmingly batted down new attempts to ram through excise and personal income tax cuts Friday, primarily on grounds that such efforts were premature.

Then Friday night, after two days of debate, the chamber approved a measure which will save the insurance industry nearly 125 million dollars in taxes on 1957 investment income. The roll call vote was 61-19.

But individuals and business generally may get their crack at tax relief a few weeks hence.

Both the administration and Democratic congressional leaders were working on tax reduction plans to be laid before the lawmakers later if there is no upturn in the business recession.

The insurance tax bill was passed by a combination of 38 Republicans and 23 Democrats. Opposed were 14 Democrats and 5 Republicans.

The bill, already approved by the House, now goes to President Eisenhower for his expected signature.

It retains stop-gap formula for tax insurance company profits which Congress enacted while waiting for the Treasury to come up with permanent recommendations. The Treasury has promised these long-delayed proposals next month.

Without the new bill, insurance firms would have been taxed on 1957 income under a 1942 formula which would cost them about 30 per cent more than the temporary formula.

Earlier, the Senate defeated 64-19 an amendment by Sen. Ralph Yarborough (D-Tex.) to cut personal income taxes by raising exemptions for taxpayers and their dependents from $600 to $800 on a one-year basis.

IPAC Caseloads, Costs Increase

SPRINGFIELD (UP)—Public Aid expenditures and caseloads rose again in January, the Illinois Public Aid Commission said today.

The IPAC reported there were 317,802 persons receiving aid under one of the five assistance programs in January. They received a total of $14,519,616 in aid.

The figures compared with 302,520 recipients and $14,173,125 in December, 1957, and 291,342 persons and $13,311,914 in January, 1957.

The rising public aid expenditures have created the possibility of a special session of the Legislature. IPAC officials have indicated the public aid appropriations, which were to last until June 30, 1959, will be exhausted by Nov. 1 this year.

Dog's Life and Vice-Versa

Chicago Officials Regard Moscow's Soupline Blasts as Election Propaganda

CHICAGO (UP)—City officials today took a "ho-hum" attitude towards Soviet charges that citizens here live a dog's life — and vice-versa.

They regarded the Radio Moscow broadcast which contrasted block-long soup lines for the unemployed with French poodles lolling in Louis XV beds as just so much election propaganda.

The Russian charges almost occurred simultaneously with Nikita Khrushchev's formal bid for election to Russia's parliament Friday.

A Salvation Army official in the windy city described "business as usual" conditions.

"Sure we have bread lines on skid row," he said. "But we always have. Things are no worse now than they ever were. The lines are no longer. The 'bums' look just the same. But how could the Russians know about stuff like that?"

Mayor Richard J. Daley, usually quick to sniff out affronts to Chicago, refused to dignify the charges with a reply.

Peter Cahill, director of the city's Public Aid Commission, refused to be ruffled.

"There were 58,696 persons on the city-area public assistance list for the month of February," Cahill granted. "This is plenty tight, but I believe it was a little tighter in March of '50."

In all events, it was nothing that couldn't be handled, commission employees said.

In all fairness, however, a case might be made for the Soviet comments on poodles with well-heeled owners.

Take Etoile, a black poodle belonging to Mrs. Benjamin Rosenthal, a wealthy widow who lives in the plush Ambassador East hotel. Although Etoile doesn't sleep in Louis XV beds—and nobody seems to know of any poodles that do—the aristocratic mutt is frequently seen strolling along the city's Gold Coast wearing pearls.

"Why pearls?" Mrs. Rosenthal has been asked.

"Because they're more in taste for Etoile than diamonds," she promptly replied.

Truman Says Hiroshima Destruction Saved Thousands of Lives in War II

Former President Replies to Protest By Japanese Council

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (UP)—Former President Truman told the people of Hiroshima Friday that the World War II atom destruction of their city saved thousands of lives and was "urgent and necessary for the prospective welfare of both Japan and the Allies."

Truman, in reply to a protest from the Hiroshima City Council, also refused to retract a statement he made on a television program — that nuclear warfare should be used whenever necessary.

Truman revealed receipt of the Hiroshima resolution, adopted Feb. 13 by the City Council, protesting the above statement and another remark that he felt "no compunction" after ordering the atomic bombing of Hiroshima and Nagasaki.

The resolution told the former President if that is true, "it is a gross defilement committed on the people of Hiroshima and their fallen victims."

The Truman reply, released Friday at a news conference in his library and museum, stated it was "necessary for me to remind the City Council of some historical events."

He noted in his 500-word statement that the Japanese committed "an unwarranted and unheralded attack" on Pearl Harbor to begin the war between the two countries.

Truman said military advisers had warned him that it would require at least one and one-half million Allied soldiers to land on the Tokyo plain and on the south island of Japan.

"After a long conference with the cabinet, the military commanders and Prime Minister Churchill, it was decided to drop the atom bomb on two Japanese cities devoted to war work," Truman wrote.

Truman said that when Japan surrendered after the bomb was dropped on Aug. 6, 1945, the military estimated at least a quarter of a million of the invasion forces against Japan and a quarter of a million Japanese "had been spared complete destruction and that twice that many on each side would otherwise have been maimed for life."

Senator Byrd Opposes Deficit Road Financing

Personal Income Drops for Sixth Straight Month

WASHINGTON (UP)—Falling tax revenue and beefed up anti-recession spending today appeared certain to plunge the government deeply into the red — even if taxes aren't cut.

Administration and congressional experts agreed that on the present course the government could roll up a multi-billion dollar deficit in the next fiscal year. If there is a tax reduction, it could go higher, unless there is a swift business upturn.

Some lawmakers said they were ready to keep a hand on the spending brake, even if the economy needs pump priming.

Sen. Harry F. Byrd (D-Va.) said he will oppose deficit financing included in the Senate's 1,500,000,000 highway bill — one of the slump-curing spending bills. The Senate Finance Committee chairman said a provision to allow expenditures over and above the highway trust fund resources would only add to next year's deficit.

Five Billion Dollar Deficit

The deficit is likely to be at least five billion dollars as things stand now, Byrd said.

A government report shows personal income of Americans slumped in February for the sixth month in a row, dropping the annual rate to $341,800,000,000. The Administration has based its forecast of $38,500,000,000 in revenue from income taxes for the next fiscal year on an anticipated overall annual income of 352 billion dollars in this calendar year.

Some congressional experts believe this figure is more likely to be down about seven billion dollars to around 345 billion—causing a 750-million dollar drop in anticipated tax revenue. A decline in corporate profits and in excise taxes because of the recession they believe might slack off Treasury receipts another two or three billion dollars.

Balks at Defense Spending

Chairman George H. Mahon (D-Tex.) said his House military appropriations subcommittee would not permit a Defense Department "spending spree" merely to give a shot in the arm to business. He said he would support House and Senate resolutions calling for a step up in spending military construction funds already appropriated by Congress.

But Mahon said he didn't want the resolutions misinterpreted to allow waste, inefficiency and slipshod management to infiltrate future Pentagon spending.

With the administration and Congress still holding off on a possible tax cut, the Commerce Department reported a new upward swing in the number of persons drawing jobless pay benefits. In the week ended March 1 the figure stood at 3,282,400—a record high for the second consecutive week.

New claims for unemployment benefits rose to 440,400, indicating overall unemployment might climb this month beyond the February 16-year high of 5,200,000.

Galatia Home Bureau Unit
Meets With Mrs. Cecil Pulliam

The Galatia Home Bureau unit met Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Cecil Pulliam and 13 members answered roll call with household hints. Mrs. Martin Hunt, home adviser, announced the 4-H rally in the Muddy school for Thursday following the meeting and the "kickoff" breakfast for the membership drive, held Friday. Madeline Large, crafts club chairman, advised the members to indicate the type of work they choose for the next meeting.

Mrs. Hunt presented the lesson on "Social Security" and explained the main features for workers in various fields of labor. She stressed the fact that many people fail to apply for the benefits and forfeit the income since there is a limit on the time for application.

An auction was held to increase the treasury and a donation was made to the Heart fund.

The style trend quiz was won by Elaine Gardner.

The hostess served cake and punch to the members and guest, Mrs. James Thompson, who joined the unit. The April meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. L. L.
Riegel.

Good Neighbor Club Meeting Time Moved Up One Week

The Good Neighbor club met in the home of Mrs. L. L. Riegel Wednesday, one week earlier than usual in order that some of the members might attend the Presbytery meeting at Lebanon church next Wednesday. There were nine members and the following guests present: Mrs. Viola Sittig, Mrs.
Clifton Winders and Mrs. Dean Guye of Harrisburg and her son, Johnnie.

Work on the friendship quilt was continued and officers were elected as follows: Pearl Upton, president; Ollie Clayton, vice-president; Myrtle Henn, secretary, and Louise Gollmer, treasurer. The recreation committee was appointed and the members are Carrie Riegel, Belle Allen, and Mary Margaret Small. Miss Small conducted Bible quizzes won by Mrs. Sittig and Mrs.
Allen. Mrs. Gollmer received the attendance prize with her guess of the amount of the clubs gifts to charity during the past year. Her guess was within one dollar of the correct figure.

The April meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. Upton and the new officers will be installed.
The hostess served strawberry pie, soft drinks, coffee and candy.

Cows still provide feeding mysteries to surprise the researchers.

That observation was emphasized in discussions at Southern Illinois University's second 1958 Dairy Workshop session March 5 which was devoted to good feeding practices for dairying. In general, the specialists who spoke agreed that the key to feeding for profitable milk production lies in providing high quality forage—hay, silage, or pasture—to good cows.

Alex Reed, chairman of the SIU Animal Industries Department, pointed out that the dairy farmer must start with cows that are good milk producers. The way to select such cows is by keeping individual production records on each cow in the herd in some systematic manner. This will enable the dairy farmer to cull the "loafers" from his herd so he can concentrate feeding on the higher producers with more profit. For example, he said, such records showed that in a high producing herd of grade Holsteins on an SIU Test Farm the highest producing cow yielded 17,835 lbs. of milk in her third lactation while the lowest producer gave 7,396 lbs.

The secret of good feeding in dairying is to get the largest possible percentage of the forage crop from the field into the cow, said Karl Gardner, University of Illinois dairy science professor. He was talking about the total digestible nutrients in the feed—the part that the cow's body actually uses. Forage quality is determined chiefly by the kind of plants grown and the condition in which they are when eaten.

Grazing on pastures having good grass-legume forage is excellent in the dairying program because this provides most nutrient needs inexpensively with the least loss of food value at a reduction in labor.
He said studies have shown that making it into silage is the next best because the total energy loss in the feed is only about 15 to 20 per cent. Barn-cured hay loses 24 per cent; sun-cured hay, 25, and rained on, 40.

D. M. Seath, University of Kentucky professor of animal husbandry, told the farmers that the surface hardly has been scratched in learning about using pastures effectively in dairying.

According to results of his experiments with using grass pastures, dairy farmers likely cannot afford to supplement good pasture forage by feeding grain or hay. He found that when cows received alfalfa hay or grain in supplementary feeding programs, they cut down on the amount of food they took from the pasture. However, heavily producing cows need supplementary grain for maintaining milk production. The decision must rest with the individual farmer, considering the quality of his forage and the cost of supplementary feeds. Seath thinks the borderline between feeding or not feeding supplementary rests somewhere near the 30 pounds-per-day level of milk production.

The kind of pasture mixture is important. At Kentucky he found cattle on blue grass, brome grass, and orchard grass maintaining satisfactory body weight and milk production levels, but the results were not good on Kentucky 31 fescue regardless of how the fescue was managed. Using ladino clover in the fescue pasture is good, he said, but the grass soon crowds out the legume.

Gustav Bohstedt, SIU visiting professor of animal husbandry, pointed out that the value of supplementary feeding for dairy cattle is determined by the cost of the grain, the quality of the forage available, the price of milk, and the efficiency of the cow in converting feed into milk and body tissue. Good pasture is the best and cheapest feed for dairy animals, but many farmers do not have as good quality pasture as they think they have. The total digestible nutrients available and their cost determine the real value of any feed, he said. The cost is about one-half as much in hay and silage as in corn. In pasture the cost is less than one-half that of hay and silage—primarily on the basis of the labor costs involved.
Balancing the cow's ration must be the first aim in feeding. Good quality forages require less grain supplements; poor forages need more concentrates.

Howard Olson, SIU dairy specialist, pointed out the need for carefully reading of the tag on the feed bag before buying. So-called cheap feeds may be the most expensive, he said, if they contain a high percentage of crude fiber which is not digestible and does the cow no good.

John Unthank Wins DeKalb Corn Growing Contest in County

John Unthank of Eldorado was recently proclaimed county corn growing champion at a banquet held at Carbondale in honor of in Saline county in the 1957 National Selected Five Acre DeKalb Corn Growing contest. Runner-up winner was J. W. Wintzler of Harrisburg with a yield of 132.03 bushels per acre. Chelsea Jones, also of Eldorado, was third with a yield of 112.85 bushels per acre.

Lonnie Roberts, Eldorado, took fourth with a yield of 112.46 bushels per acre.

More Than 48,000 Farmers In State Work with Soil Districts

More than 48,000 Illinois farmers are now working with soil conservation districts in Illinois and in this way are utilizing the technical assistance of the Soil Conservation Service, according to B.
Clark, State Conservationist of the Soil Conservation Service, Champaign. An additional 6,385 farmers received assistance in 1957 from the Soil Conservation Service as a result of their requests for help in establishing soil conserving practices through the Agricultural Conservation Program of ASC.

The soil conservation districts in Illinois started work with nearly 4,000 new cooperators during the 1957 calendar year. This group of farmers has begun working, with assistance of the SCS technician, toward developing a farm conservation plan for each acre of their land, which will use the land within its capabilities and treat it according to its needs. Clark pointed out that such farm plans are a necessary guide to proper practical and economic progress toward the conservation farmer's goal.

In discussing progress for the 1957 year, Clark listed, among other accomplishments, 864,777 acres of soil surveys for use in farm conservation planning, 55,495 acres of contour farming, 33,451 acres of pasture improvement, 38,622 acres on which drainage was improved, 553 miles of terraces and diversions, over 1,600 ponds constructed, 816 concrete structures for gully control and stabilization of watercourses, and over 2,000 acres of grass watercourses established.

Clark pointed out that the farm conservation plans also include use of land for woodland and wildlife purposes. During the year cooperators fenced or otherwise protected 8,368 acres of farm woodland from grazing and planted 79, 000 rods of shrubs for hedgerow to establish living fences. 5,632 acres of trees were planted on the farms of district cooperators.

Clark said farmers interested in participating in the district program in 1958 may contact one of the directors of their local district or the Soil Conservation Service representative in their county.

Developments on the small water shed program in Illinois during the past two years reported on by Clark were to the effect that eleven applications had been received to date covering 419,413 acres. Of these, 6 which include 172,700 acres have been authorized for planning assistance. One work plan has been authorized to begin installation of works of improvement.

Soviet Rejection Of UN Arms Talks Seen As Blackmail

WASHINGTON (AP)—Moscow's rejection of new disarmament moves is a "blackmail attempt" to force an East-West summit meeting, American officials said today.

The Soviets said in Moscow that they would not attend a meeting of the 25-nation United Nations Disarmament Commission as suggested by the western powers. A Kremlin spokesman said the only way to attack the disarmament problem is to "follow the Soviet proposal and agree to discuss disarmament in a summit conference."

U. S. officials said the negative Soviet position on U. N. disarmament talks was no surprise. They said it has been clear for some time that the Soviets would balk at arms talks away from a summit table.

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Westerns were "ridin' high" today in competition for television's golden Emmy awards to be presented April 15 for outstanding work in 1957.

"Gunsmoke," "Maverick," and "Wagon Train" were among the 35 television programs and 117 performers announced Wednesday night as the Academy of Arts and Sciences' nominees for the industry's most coveted award.

The three "eat burners" were nominated for the best dramatic series with continuing characters along with "Lassie," and "Perry Mason."

Jim Arness, sober-faced Matt Dillon of "Gunsmoke," also was nominated for the "best continuing performance by an actor in a leading role in a dramatic, or comedy series." So was Danny Thomas, Bob Cummings, Phil

Storm Whip Cracks in East

By United Press
The whip end of an "amazingly" long weather pattern extending from the Dakotas fell with a crack on the East, causing a rash of gale winds, severe thunder storms and new snows.

Along the New England Coast Friday night, 65-mile-an-hour winds drove tides up to four feet above normal, and a Coast Guard cutter put out into 12-foot seas to rescue a disabled fishing boat.

There were 10 inches of snow reported at Worcester, Mass., and unofficial reports of foot-high snows in the Berkshire Mountains running through Massachusetts and Connecticut were received.

The new outbreak of weather violence followed an early March lull after an unusually hard winter. The U. S. Weather Bureau said the "sphere of influence of the storm center is amazingly large," as a wide band of snows covered about two-thirds of the nation's northern rim.

At least 11 persons were killed in weather-caused accidents, a United Press survey showed, since the storm burgeoned out of the Gulf of Mexico Wednesday.

Four persons were killed in a car-train crash in Indiana during a snow storm, a plane crash killed three persons in Utah, and single weather deaths were reported in Illinois, Oklahoma, Texas and Arkansas.

We the undersigned members of the city police force wish to express our gratitude to the people of Harrisburg for the support they have given us as we have tried to discharge our responsibility. It is our opinion that the vote in the city election was an indication of the confidence you placed in us as your law enforcement officers.

Ours is not a task in which it is possible to give perfect satisfaction to everyone, but we do try to be fair and impartial at all times. We have received words of commendation and encouragement from educational and religious leaders as well as from other civic and business organizations. Such expressions have helped to lighten our load and have increased our desire to be of greater service.

We lay no claims to perfection, but we openly declare our good intentions. We invite constructive criticism and assure you that the highest good of our city and our citizenry is our aim.

Signed:

ROSS LANE, Chief of Police

CHARLES HINE, Police Commissioner

God's Way and Man's Substitution

Col. 3:17

When God tells a person to do a thing and then tells him the way it is to be done, he wants man to respect the how as well as the doing of it.

When God tells the way he wants something done and man ignores God's way and substitutes his own, he stands condemned in the eyes of God.

God has given man a perfect law. (James 1:25). It was given by the inspiration of God. (2 Tim. 3:16-17) (2 Pet. 1:3). Millions are not satisfied with the scriptures alone. They have added their creeds, manuals and disciplines. Why substitute for the WILL OF GOD? We will be judged by the word we have today. (Jno. 12:48). It's dangerous and damnable in the eyes of God to add or subtract from his will. (Rev. 22:18-19).

Let us receive the word as it is written. Follow it and inherit Heaven in the end.

'Evangelism At Home'

Mark 5:18-20; Luke 10:1-2;
I. Thes. 1:6-10 GOLDEN TEXT: "Therefore, said he unto them; the harvest truly is great, but the labourers are few: pray ye therefore the Lord of the harvest, that he would send forth labourers into his harvest." (Luke 10:2)

INTRODUCTION — The Bible teaches that every Christian is responsible for the winning of others to Christ. Jesus, himself, commanded all of us to evangelize the world. This is great re sponsibility. It requires daily ef fort on the part of Christian men and young people.

The lost people in your home await your Christian testimony for their own salvation. The lost people in your community await your Christian example and tes timony for their own salvation.
If you are a Christian, you, also have a big responsibility toward the winning of the lost people in foreign lands. You cannot go to them, but you can help send those missionaries to them who do feel called to this special work. You have been saved to serve!

1. YOU ARE TO WITNESS (Mark 5:18-20)

In this portion of the scripture one finds a man who had been possessed by demons. The peo ple of the city were afraid of him. Jesus cast out the demons, cured the man and saved his soul. This man wanted to go with Jesus and serve him the rest of his life.

Jesus told the man to go back to his home and tell others what the Lord had done for him. The man obeyed. There was real joy in that man's home after he had met Jesus.

How about you? Have you been "born again?" Have you obeyed Christ by going home and telling your loved ones what Jesus has done for you? Are you living daily in such a way as to make others know that your life has really been changed? It is you God-given privilege and respon sibility to do so!

II. JOIN OTHERS IN WITNESSING (Luke 10:1-2)

Jesus here tells us that "the harvest truly is plentiful, but the labourers are few." What does he mean? Just this. The lost are all about us in such great numbers that we need all the help we can get to win them. Lost people are headed for an eternal hell. Some Christian people act as if they really do not believe this.

Recently we asked a lady if her husband was a Christian.
She replied that she did not know, because they had not discussed it. When asked how long they had been married, she replied:
"thirteen years!" Thirteen years living with a husband, and she had never discussed a thing of eternal value! How can a per son lie down and sleep at night knowing that a loved one in the same house with them is lost?

III. LARGE GROUPS CAN WITNESS (I Thes. 1:6-10)

The Church at Thessalonica had done a wonderful job of wit nessing for Christ. Paul here is commending them for their great missionary and evangelism ef forts. The people in that city knew what it meant to be a Christian. They could tell by looking at the members of the church there.

How about your church. Is it doing a good job of telling your community what being a Chris tian really means? Are you, as a member of your church, con tributing to the Christian efforts of your church? Are you help ing your pastor and church lead ers to proclaim Christ to your community and the world?

CONCLUSION — Winning oth ers to Christ is every Christian's job. If you are a Christian you have a great responsibility. If you fulfill your obligation of wit nessing, God will bless you and keep joy and happiness coming to your heart daily.
A lady just left my office. She has many distressing problems.

FOUNDATIONS

You have to go down if you want to go up! That sounds like foolishness, but it isn't.

If you plan to build a garage, you don't need to dig very much before you lay the foundation. But if you plan to rival a modern skyscraper, you must start deep below the earth's surface.

Foundations of great buildings must go down until they rest on bed rock. Not until then is it safe to start going up.
So the next time you look up at a building which rises far above you, don't forget the foundation that makes it possible.

Our lives need such foundations, too. In the build ing of our lives, and those of our children, we are too often governed by what other people think or by our temporary wants and desires.

But when life's storms come and its testing moments are upon us, it is the foundation that keeps us secure, or the lack of it that permits collapse. Only a life foundation that rests solidly upon faith in the eternal God is really adequate for the kind of character building we must do if we want our lives to be happy and successful.

You've got to go as deep as that, if you want to go up.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest in fluence on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values.
Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and sup port the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and mat terial support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

She is emotionally disturbed.
Things are all out of joint in her home. She lives in another city, and she drove about seventy miles to talk to me. What is her trouble? Several years ago she became a Christian and joined the church. In the past two years she has been in church about a half dozen times. She has won absolutely no other person to Christ. I can now make a pre diction. She has just rededicated her life to Christ in my study.
She promises to be faithful to our Lord in witnessing and church attendance. I predict that all her problems will soon melt away like the winter snow before the

Tips on Traffic Safety

By CHARLES F. CARPENTIER

Secretary of State

Motorists should remember their obligations to pedestrians.

A pedestrian has little chance against a heavy motor vehicle if he is struck. A motorist must always remember that he must safeguard the fate of the pedestrian.

Always be on the alert for the pedestrian. When approaching intersections do not pass through without looking about for a pedestrian who may be about to cross into your path against the signal.

When in business districts always be alert for pedestrians who think their time is so valuable that they will cross in the middle of the block.

In residential sections, caution must always be exercised by the motorist who must be prepared to come to a quick stop to avoid hitting a youngster who might dash into the street from behind a parked car. And in these districts always remember that a bouncing ball in the street is a sure danger sign.

The older pedestrians cannot see or hear well and move slowly and for these reasons they deserve and need your consideration and assistance. The children are not old enough to realize the risks they run in playing in or crossing the streets.
